these essays deal with the scholarly study of the genesis transmission and editorial reconstitution of texts by exploring the connections between textual instability and textual theory interpretation and pedagogy what makes this collection unique is that each essay brings a different theoretical orientation new historicism poststructuralism or feminism to bear upon a different text such as whitman s leaves of grass faulkner s the sound and the fury or hypertext fiction to explore the dialectical relationship between texts and textuality the essays bring some of the textual theories that compete with each other today into contact with a broad range of primarily literary textual histories that texts are intrinsically unstable frequently consisting of a series of determinate historical versions has consequences for all students of literature because different versions of a literary work frequently help shape different readings independently of the interpretations brought to bear upon them textual instability of the works is relevant to our understanding of how the meanings of texts are generated the contributors build on the numerous challenges to the anglo american editorial tradition mounted during the past decade by scholars as diverse as jerome mcgann d f mckenzie peter shillingsburg d c greetham hershel parker and hans walter gabler the volume contributes to the paradigm shift in textual scholarship inaugurated by these scholars index using freudian and post freudian theories henry james s fiction is reinterpreted as an arena of linguistic and sexual interaction through readings of novels including the american and the golden bowl it is argued that james s work like freud s itself can be read as representative and revealing of social and psychological forces and then reread as a product of these same forces the emphasis is not biographical but through employing such theorists as lacan and kristeva textual wherein textuality becomes the field of disclosure for sexuality the traditional jamesian narrative of the passage from innocence is reformulated as both the characterized virgins and the texts entrance into the complexities of the sociosexual order analysis of literature and culture abounds in modern scholarship customarily written in the familiar language of literary theory though the terminology today seems more or less straightforward this was not always the case the propositions for a new and active understanding of text put forward in the 1960s by theorists like roland barthes and jacques derrida profoundly influenced contemporary critical thought and were unnerving to many this book examines how a divergent school of literary and cultural studies created french theory appropriated its ideas about text and textuality and altered the landscape of debate in mainstream academic discourse the author traces the standardization of a once rebellious poststructuralism and presents contemporary critical thinking that questions the assumptions of theory
